From our Vicar

Rev. Cathy Helm

As the season of 'remembering' the outbreak of World War 1 approaches, starting from 4th August when war was declared upon Germany one hundred years ago, I find it difficult and uncomfortable when people talk of celebration rather than commemoration. I do not believe the outbreak of war is something to celebrate rather it is vital that we hear and commemorate the stories again of those who gave so much for our freedom, who sacrificed and knew firsthand the horror of war. The Royal British Legion have been very careful to avoid the use of the word celebrate and are rather putting their emphasis upon remembering the stories of immense courage and sacrifice.

It is in reading some of these stories that I discovered that the Church Army had been very involved in the front lines, with their volunteers and evangelists stepping up to the challenge of serving the practical needs of those serving in the trenches and bringing the hope of faith into places of such fear and horror.

These Church Army volunteers ran 2000 recreation huts and tents, hostels and rest homes, mobile canteens and carried out hospital visiting bringing hope to thousands in their darkest hours of need.

Their huts were places of refuge and open to all, many soldiers came there to write their letters home before facing the trenches as well as attending services and Bible studies. Amongst the mud they became places where the light of Jesus was all that was left to hold onto.

The Church Army continues today and as a church we support financially and through prayer as they serve amongst those who are marginalized and vulnerable, those who face their own 'darkest hour', the homeless, those struggling with addiction or unemployment, the very young and the elderly.

Sadly war has been a feature of human history since records began. World War 1 was supposed to be .....!the war to end all wars.....! I found this statistic that since 3600BC the world has only known 292 years of peace. There have been 14,351 wars and as the book I found this in was published in 2005... that figure is still increasing! What shines through the darkness of statistics like that are the stories of courage and the example of those who are willing to bring light of Christ and hope into seemingly hopeless situations.

It is in hearing those stories that we can remember them with thankful hearts, but also to strengthen our resolve to work and to pray for peace for future generations.

On the evening of August 4th there is to be a candlelit vigil in Westminster Abbey, like me you may not be able to get to London but perhaps a prayer like this may help.

Living God, teach us to truly appreciate the freedom we enjoy and never to forget what it cost for so many. Remind us of the awfulness of conflict,

So that we may strive always for peace.

Awaken us to our part in a broken world

And our responsibility to work for it's healing. Amen

Cathy

St Nicholas Church: internal works progress report

By the time we have gone to print and the magazine is distributed by our wonderful volunteers, the internal work in church should be more or less completed. The main structural work in the Massey Chapel is now complete and it's the bringing together of all the heating and electrical elements which are to be finished and then the carpets go in and the chairs and display cupboard can be all put in place.

Work in progress

The first big event to celebrate and use the new facilities will be the Harvest Songs of Praise on Saturday October 3rd .

However, we will be using the projector and screen before then and Bishop Wilson School will use the more versatile area at the front for their end of term service.

Many thanks especially to our warden Mike Davies for all his hard work in overseeing the different elements of the project.

Just a little note to say a Big Thank You

Just a little note of thanks to everyone who supported the Summer Fete on 7th June helping to make it such a success.

A special thank-you to all who made batches, cooked the burgers, put the Programme together and drummed up sponsorship from local businesses, advertised in our Programme, ran stalls, sold raffle tickets, recruited helpers, staffed the gates, parked cars, ran the bar, setup gazebos, provided raffle prizes, organized the Parade and the 100s of other jobs that are required to make the Fete a success.

Despite the damp start to the day, it all turned out well in the end. The sun came out, people stayed on, the hoola hoop and space hopper competitions were great fun. The 'Hurricane' arrived at the right moment - what a finale!!

Many thanks to all the Fete Committee but especially to Ingrid Sturmey for all her very hard work this year and in previous years - she is the one who knows how to organize and run the Fete. Well done Ingrid and thank you.

£6,000 towards the upkeep of the village hall sounds good to me.

Thank you all.

Magazine round-up - and appeal!

What a busy couple of months it has been in our Parish! With the Festival of Flowers and Village Fete, as well as events at Burton Manor, the RSPB Wildlife Sanctuary and the Open Garden Scheme, plus a lively "Messy Church" there has been a lot of activity going on around us!

This issue of the magazine has "reports" from some of our more junior readers about events that have occurred in their lives - from television interviews to representing the local school in sporting galas, opening the village fete and partaking in the Messy Church, we don't know how they do it all!

However as the Remembrance events from both World Wars start it is sometimes difficult for the younger generation to understand the sacrifices that have been made by past generations. Indeed the local Guide Troop of which I am a trainee Leader recently had to compile a menu based on food rations - imagine their shock when they realised there was no ready meals, sweets or chocolate, the fruit had to be seasonal and home grown (so no bananas, grapes or oranges!) and that they had only one egg per week. Powdered egg was greeted with howls of disgust and the recipes for "Woolton Pie" and "the national loaf" were looked at with disbelief!

I have started doing some research into the men whose names we read out every Remembrance Sunday - fourteen from the Great War and a further eleven from World War II. The youngest from First World War died aged just 19 in Flanders, the eldest was just 40. Indeed local man Corporal H H Mellor, who died in World War 1 is buried within the grounds of Burton Church. He served with the Royal Engineers and lost his life on 4th March 1919. In my research I discovered that the Royal Engineers did enormous groundwork in preparation for the Battle of Arras, constructing tunnels for the troops to travel underground. It is reported that in one section of these tunnels the Royal Engineers had over 2,000 men working eighteen hour shifts around the clock for months to complete these tunnels.

We are hopeful of finding more War memories of both wars from the past and current residents of Burton in order that they are not forgotten - and can be taught to the younger generation. The aim is to get as many memories as we can for a "Memorial Wall" either at the Church or the school. If you have stories or experiences that you feel able to share we would love to hear from you.

If you would like to talk to someone about your wartime memories or have any information for future issues of the magazine please contact us via telephone, email or stop us for a chat! Contact details on the back of this magazine.

Thank you.

Hymn Stories

John Newton (1725 – 1807)

*Amazing Grace, how sweet the sound,
That saved a wretch like me.
I once was lost but now am found,
Was blind, but now I see.*

John Newton crammed a lot of living into his 82 years. His mother died when he was six years old, and he joined his father at sea when he was eleven. He served his apprenticeship as a sailor, and rose through the ranks until he became the captain of a slave ship. He abandoned the religious training that he had experienced as a child, and reveled in the dissolute life of a slave trader. He was noted for his profanity and his cruelty, and was even known as 'The Great Blasphemer'.

But one stormy night off the coast of Donegal, when his ship had been holed and was in danger of sinking, and he was in danger of drowning, Newton had a real change of heart. Newton called out to God as the ship filled with water. After he called out, the cargo flowed out and stopped up the hole, and the ship was able to drift to safety. It might have been his religious training at his mother's knee surfacing after all those years — or it might have been his love for Mary Catlett, a Christian woman whom he later married — or it might have been his reading of the book, Imitation of Christ, by William Law — or it might have been all three. In any event, Newton had a real conversion experience. However, as he was to admit later, "I cannot consider myself to have been a believer, in the full sense of the word."

For a while, Newton continued on his slave ship, but he began to treat both the slaves and his crew with a good deal more compassion. Finally, convinced that the slave trade was wrong, he left his ship and took a job onshore.

He then felt a call to the ministry, and was ordained at age forty and assigned to a church at Olney, Buckinghamshire. Newton wrote many hymns, including How Sweet the Name of Jesus Sounds and Glorious Things of Thee are Spoken, but he is best remembered for Amazing Grace, which is in a sense Newton's own story. It was amazing grace that saved him, and it was amazing grace that was the focus of his preaching.

He continued in ministry through the rest of his long life, even after failing eyesight made it impossible for him to read. Newton never ceased to be amazed by God's grace and, nearing the end of his life, told his friends, "My memory is nearly gone; but I remember two things: That I am a great sinner, and that Christ is a great Saviour."

Mothers' Union

At the Deanery Committee Meeting on April 1st an afternoon tea was arranged for Tuesday July 1st at St. Thomas' Church in Ellesmere Port. I have tickets (£3.00) if anybody wishes to go and see me if anybody needs transport. There will be a Speaker.

In May we celebrated Holy Communion at the annual event, the Diocesan Festival at Chester Cathedral and on May 28th we gave afternoon tea at Gladstone Village Hall. As we use this occasion for fundraising for the Mother's Union Charities, we usually make a great effort to raise a good amount. This year was no exception as we reached the grand total of £600 approximately after expenses.

I would like to thank all those who worked so hard to make this so successful - the ladies who prepared and served the food, stall holders, raffle organisers and with a special thank you for those who cleared and washed up. Of course, special thanks to those of you who came to support us.

We were entertained by a young lady - Sue Hodges - who is a very talented pianist and singer. She played the piano before tea and afterwards played and sang songs old and new.

Since the year 2014 was especially poignant being the 100th Anniversary of the First World War, she included songs of that era inviting our guests to sing along. Most people enjoyed this, along with more modern songs.

On June 28th members are invited to Diocesan Council and AGM at St Johns Hartford Church Centre. If anybody wishes to go, see Ruth or me to arrange transport.

Summertime

With differing weather patterns - sunshine and showers, the cornflowers and the poppies all grew so, so tall and that part of the garden was admired as a wild flower garden! They are such lovely colours and a haven for bees, so I am loathe to cut them down. The sweet peas are growing steadily, but as they are grown on cordons they have to be tied up almost daily. Slugs have been such a problem. The asters were planted out three times and were almost wiped out on each occasion. At last the crimson Peony is in full bloom and the roses have been wonderful - Alex Red (lovely perfume), Freedom and Queen Elizabeth are to name but a few. However the large border in the rear garden is like a wilderness with Ribes, Kerria, Harry Lauder's Walking Stick (Twisted Hazel); have been pruned severely, as they were all growing into one another. Planting in the many pots and tubs is completed but once again the Fragrance Mixture is not much of a mixture (must make a note in the diary not to purchase again!) Now the race is on to produce show standard flowers and hope that there is some fine weather prior to each show.

Not many birds have frequented the garden - the odd baby blue tits; robins. Blackbirds are certainly absent from Bertha. It is however lovely to hear the bees working and the mewing buzzards as they soar and slide on the thermals.

CBEEBIES - My story

In September I am going to be on the TV with my Granny because Cbeebies has made a film about canals with us at The Boat Museum.

I went to the Boat Museum with my Granny and I dressed up as Alice and I went on a boat. Also I counted some bags of flour. Next I played some games. I played skittles and I played 5 stones. Then I played ball in the cup.

The next day the Cbeebies people came to my house and I played in the paddling pool with some boats. In the afternoon I tried a one pot stew - yum yum!

On the last day I went on a boat which was pulled by horse called Tony. It was really fun

The Burton Youth Safari Supper

On a warm Sunday evening, the Burton Youth set off in search of some supper. We began at Allan and Anne Hudson's house where tomato soup and garlic bread kept us quiet, while we were served with coke and crisps from behind the bar. After this, we were then led to Sue and John Church's house for the main course. There was a buffet with lots of finger food including chicken nuggets, potato wedges and sausage rolls which were delicious. We finished at Jane and Mike Davies with a cone with vanilla ice cream and a flake, along with some strawberries. The boys ran around in the garden playing rounders, while the girls sat on the chairs in the sun talking. It was a lovely night and we were very lucky with the weather, thank you to all the hosts for such lovely food.

Just look at what our most junior members of our church community get up to at Messy Church!! The children were learning the story of Jesus going to the Temple when he was twelve - and the theme of Lost and Found. A great time was had by all. Please feel free to come and join the fun at our next one!
