The Vicar Writes . . .

I took this picture of our dog Meri a few years ago and of course, it's all a matter of perspective!

Over the last year our perspective on life has changed dramatically, we have come to appreciate the unwavering commitment of NHS staff, delivery drivers, carers, farmers, funeral directors, and foodbank volunteers to name a few. We have also heard the cries of those who have been marginalised, the climate crisis has finally been recognised as a real crisis and we have had the space and time to consider what is really important to us. There was an advert early on in 2020 which talked of having 20:20 vision, perfect vision. I think it was suggesting after the elections and changes in 2019 that in 2020 we would see things more clearly. Now we are halfway through 2021 and are able to reflect on the year past, are we seeing life in a new way or do we just want it all to go back to 'normal'?

The current St Nicholas' church building is now in its 300th year. The stonemason's mark over the door dates 1721, although the church is built on much older foundations. It made me consider all the considerable changes since then, the joys and sorrows, the people, families, and visitors who have been through the doors. Having a beautiful, old and well-loved building within the village is testament to God's presence with us, but also countless generations of faithful people who have found it a place of comfort, joy, prayer and God's presence through wars, plagues and pandemics and will continue to do so for generations to come.

The church may have been built before the advent of the Industrial Revolution, and seen changes beyond the comprehension of the villagers of 1721, but God's love and faithfulness have not changed.

Jesus said:

'I have come that you may have life in all its fullness.' John 10:10

He wasn't promising an easy life, but a life full of God's love, mercy, blessing and grace, a life that gives the resources needed to cope with the challenges of life, a fresh start.

I wonder what God's perspective is as he sees our world in 2021? It's easy to just see the pain, the destruction and the suffering, but perhaps from God's perspective can we see the hope for recovery, the promise of new life, the kindness of the stranger, the sacrifice of the loving, the generosity of the humble, the justice of the wise..... all reflections of the character of our ever-loving God.

David wrote in Psalm 46:

'God is our refuge and strength, an ever present help in trouble. Therefore, we will not fear, though the earth give way and the mountains fall into the heart of the sea, though the waters roar and foam and the mountains quake with their surging. There is a river whose streams make glad the city of God, the holy place where the Most High dwells ... The Lord Almighty is with us.'

So, if you're still wondering how I got Meri to stand on top of those stones, I suggest you may need to change your perspective!

And finally ...

A memo from God:

'If life happens to hand you a situation you cannot handle yourself, do not attempt to resolve it.

Kindly put it in the SFGTD [Something for God to do] box. It will be addressed in my time not yours.

Once it is placed in the box, don't hold on to it.'

'Always remember the greatest oak was once a little nut that held its ground!'

It's a Parable of Life

Rev Sam Wells – Vicar of St Martins-in-the-Field, London

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

There's a typical airport scene in a film of postcolonial crisis.

Recall 'The Killing Fields' or 'Hotel Rwanda'. The blades are whirring and a last cluster of westerners just make it on board before the helicopter lifts them off to safety. As for those left on the ground: well it's best not to think about it.

A similar logic seemed to be at work in the short-lived plans for a European Super League. Real Madrid's president announced this was to 'save football.' But the model of salvation on offer was that a dozen clubs are airlifted out, and as for the Aston Villas of the league, let alone the Grimsby Towns: well it's best not to think about it.

There's something powerful at work here that's almost primal, and runs through the heart of Christianity. It's the question of what salvation fundamentally is. Is it a sense of profound belonging, at peace with God and one another? Or is it more about escape, about finding a way to get out of life alive, about thinking as long as I'm rescued, everyone else can make their own arrangements? All of us, in a weak moment, faced with a profound crisis, might focus on our own interests, and perhaps feel bad about it later. But what about when we portray salvation on those terms? What the Super League was promising was salvation – but only for a dozen clubs. The offer was whispered, 'this can airlift you out of the risk of genuine competition and the rest can fight it out on the ground – we can save football'.

In the 1880s, several of our leading football teams, including the likes of Manchester City, Everton, Southampton and Fulham, were founded by local churches, seeking to foster healthy rivalry among young men of the parish.

The clergy saw football as a parable of life. Footballers face adversity and disappointment, but by working together, in a team where everyone's role is vital, they can find a common goal, and discover gifts in themselves and others that they never knew were there.

Elite football's a business, and it's naïve to forget that. But it's also a game, and events have shown us that a system that takes away the consequences of losing, and excludes the vast majority of players, has ceased to be a game at all. In the end, there's only one society that has no promotion or relegation, and that's heaven. As I see it, heaven is genuinely for everybody, and no one is finally left out. Ultimately, that's the only kind of league to which it's worth belonging.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to Ann Hudson for using lockdown to use her creative skills writing a book called 'Kissed by Sun and Wind' outlining her memories of sailing around the Mediterranean islands of Corsica and Sardinia in the 1980s.

AFTERNOON TEA

on Saturday 3 July 3.00 to 5.00pm (Please check the website to confirm details)

CHURCH SERVICE

Sunday 11 July at 4.00pm A service in church for all ages as we anticipate the end of lockdown.

Reflect, Connect, Hope

An opportunity to come and remember those we have lost in the last year, to give thanks for all those who have worked so hard to save lives, and to look forward with hope.

For those who may not have heard our news, I will be leaving the parishes of Burton and Shotwick in a few months time. I have recently been appointed Priest in charge to the parishes of Dacre, Watermillock and Matterdale in the Ullswater Mission area just to the west of Penrith in Cumbria. There are three churches with an established lay team and with other mission opportunities in the area working along with the local Methodist church. It has clearly been God's calling to these parishes and His timing. It is a part time position and will, therefore, enable me to be closer to my mum and also allow me to have more time with Steve and at our place in Scotland. Jonny will be staying on the Wirral, Amy will be moving to Chester and the dogs will be with us!

We are moving from Burton, mid-September and will be starting in the new post in early October. It is going to be hard for us to leave here, but there is a strong Lay team, a committed PCC and a vision for growing the church. I am confident that as you continue to be God' people and continue to grow and thrive that He will sustain and guide you.

A prayer for our Churches

Heavenly Father, we pray for your courage, wisdom and leading in the weeks and months ahead. Times of change are unsettling and worrying and we pray for confidence in your good provision, in your love for this church and in your desire to see this church continue to flourish and grow. May we hold on to your promise. 'Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding. In all your ways acknowledge Him and He will make your paths straight.'

Proverbs 3: 5,6

A photograph of a church interior. In the foreground, there are wooden pews with blue cushions. A large, ornate Gothic window is in the background, letting in bright light. A white vase with flowers sits on a table in front of the window. A sign with a crescent moon and star is visible on the wall to the left of the window. The text is overlaid on a dark grey semi-transparent box on the left side of the image.

Looking back over the past fifteen months there have been many heartening stories of people helping neighbours and friends. Some of these stories have appeared in the news, most have not.

We would like to share how the Mothers' Union in the Diocese of Down and Dromore in Northern Ireland helped local children.

The Mothers' Union in the Diocese of Down and Dromore had planned to get involved in a 'Grub Club' during 2020 Easter and summer holidays by providing a team to prepare and serve meals twice a week, to children suffering from 'holiday hunger'. This was organised by Mount Merrion Church. When the plans had to be altered due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the Mothers' Union quickly adapted and offered their support in different ways.

Every week during the school summer holidays, a mini-boot camp and packed lunch giveaway took place instead, on the green in the middle of the estate. Free for all to join and attend by up to 30 people each time in order to abide by social distancing and Coronavirus gathering laws at the time.

When asked why Mount Merrion Church wanted to provide this service, the team said:

'The Grub Club idea and now this mini-boot camp and packed lunch giveaway simply reflects our heart for the community we are part of. During the pandemic we have sought to work in partnership with others to provide for the most vulnerable and isolated in the area. It is clear that finances are tight and through the uniform recycling scheme that we are currently running and this weekly give-away, we hope to share something of the love of Jesus in a practical way.'

How inspiring! In spite of all our anxieties we still marvel at God's world – the green of the new leaves, the beauty of the blossom on the trees, the birds loving the rain and the Christ-like kindness of people.

LOTS OF EVENTS AND ACTIVITIES!

We continue to have a very busy time at school. Our Easter Experience had to take place in school rather than church. Thank you so much to Cathy and her team for organising the activities. We very much enjoyed them.

We have sadly said goodbye to one of our Robins class teachers and wish her well in her new career. We have also been pleased to welcome Miss Bevins to the class and our team. It has been a very busy time for her getting to know us all.

There is so much going on at the moment - sports competition events being held in school at the same time as other schools - forest school activities and so much more. We also had a sponsored fitness activities event recently (enormous thanks to our PTA for organising the event) which raised just over £1,400. We are planning to use this money to buy some resources for our forest school activities.

Best Wishes,

Suzanne Roberts

WE'VE WON A TROPHY !

We have been competing locally in virtual sporting events this year due to Covid restrictions.

During the Winter Games, we beat our local cluster schools to become winners of the Kurling and Athletics events. This meant that we then had the opportunity to compete in the County finals against the other winning schools throughout Cheshire and Warrington.

We came 3rd in the Athletics County finals which is an incredible achievement in itself, but we won the Kurling County final.

This is a fantastic effort from all children involved and especially the children from Eagles class who scored highly enough to form a team and represent us.

Easter at School

This was our version of a quite literal, 'big welcome', just like Jesus received when he rode into Jerusalem.

Tales from the Wirral Foodbank

It's now mid-May and little has changed since our last tale set in mid-March. A few more distribution centres have re-opened, but largely to replace time slots at centres where churches are starting to be used more frequently. We're serving about the same number of clients and this is still markedly lower than in 2019. That seems to be because there are other sources for emergency food, perhaps with less stigma than the foodbank.

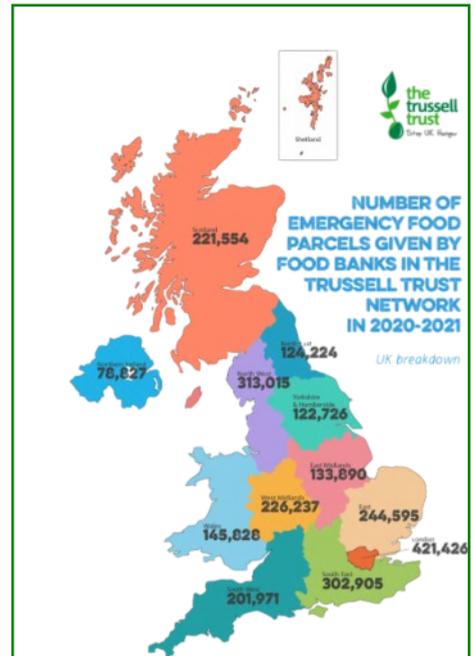

Trussell Trust, the organising charity behind many of the UK's foodbanks, reports that demand for foodbanks has increased dramatically across the country, but neither Wirral nor Liverpool foodbanks are seeing this increase – a testimony to Merseyside's community spirit, rather than a lack of need, we fear.

Despite saying that we're serving fewer clients than in 2019, it's still around 130 people a week who are helped by your donations of food and money. The food is obviously the urgent need, but the help provided by the foodbank's dedicated Citizens Advice Bureau (Ask Us Wirral) counsellors to fix the underlying cause means that we see a largely different 130 people each week.

As always, many thanks for your support, which makes all the difference to so many people.

*Burton Village
The History of Hampstons
Well*

This small well located on the outskirts of the village has possibly served the iron age settlements at Burton Point and the Anglo Saxon settlement of Burton since 900.

The earliest known written records are dated 1602/03 in the manor court book where it is referred to as Patrick's well, located on one side of Congreave bounded by the mill, Denna Lane and the shore.

There are frequent references in the records of the manor court concerning its upkeep. The constables of Burton were charged with cleaning the well each year and all able bodied men of Burton were required to help under pain of a fine of six pence.

The court also passed by laws raising funds for its maintenance from the villagers, to prohibit washing clothes at the well, or turning well water out of its course.

By the 19th century it had become known as Hampstons Well, after a family who had lived in Burton since the sixteenth century.

At the turn of the 20th century a pump had been installed on the well to help extract water by hand. There are no records of this pump only a couple of photographs have confirmed this, as the pump has long since vanished.

In later years the well became surplus to requirement and like many others fell into dilapidation. The overgrown remains of the well were restored in 1975 by Ellesmere Port Council as a tribute to the memory of Councillor Horace Edgar Green who died on the 15th September 1973, ages 86 years. He had served the community faithfully as a councillor of Neston for twenty eight years and was chairman of the council from 1947 to 1948.

Friends of Hampstons Well

A 'Friends Of Hampstons Well' group has been established for the site on Station Road, Burton. We will be working alongside with Chester West and Chester Council to bring life back to the site and to restore it to its former glory.

During lockdown, interested residents and members of the public from the surrounding areas visited the Well on their daily constitutional, and some people, attending to their civic duties, started to clear the brambles away from the steps to reveal this special ecological site.

As the months went on, volunteers were able to clear the steps, the thorny brambles, the weeds, and the nut-sedge weed from the edges of the pond. Slowly, Hampstons Well was being cleared so members of the public were able to walk along the path, down the steps and over the cobbles around the pond.

In February 2021, we were invited to an online meeting with CWaC Council to look at what needed doing at the site. Together, we are forming an action plan. Should any one like to become a committee member or volunteer for 'Friends of Hampstons Well', please contact us via

Facebook: Friends of Hampstons Well \(Burton\) or email us at

Secretary - Bethan Colburn

There are lots of ideas, from lots of different perspectives, from different people around the country, of activities which could be held at the site. From poetry readings to educational visits, to seasonal celebrations – this site is rich with history in Burton.

We are keen to make plans for how to look after and permanently maintain the site, preserving its nature of and protecting the wildlife within. It is cosy, nestled just off the road, which many walkers would have gone straight past heading towards the scenic Burton Marsh. However, if you take a minute to go on to the site, take a seat at the bench or look in to the well, this modest place brings an extraordinarily generous amount of calm and serenity.

In the Garden

with Flori Bunda

Enjoy the Beauty of the Garden

The garden had an explosion of colour recently with daffodils, muscari and bluebells. Tulips followed on. Lady Macon (camellia) was so late to flower, but to date still has a few blooms. The new dahlia (El Paso) is growing on well and several cuttings are flourishing.

The holly bush, totally out of control, has now been drastically 'pruned' giving more light to the shrubbery. There is a blue fir tree in the same area and we had tenants in the bird box. It was a family of great tits.

The greenhouse was full of seedlings, most of which are now

'hardening off' in various parts of the garden offering shade and shelter if necessary.

A summer jasmine growing up the garage wall had to be cut down. A rose (Absent Friends) has now taken its place.

The sweet peas grew into healthy plants and are now planted out.

The sweet peas varieties include Royal Hospital, Chatsworth and Heaven Scent and the rest are unnamed mixtures.

In the present climate it is doubtful whether the flower shows will be held.

Ground elder is very unwelcome, but with the ground being wet, recently it is easily pulled out by the roots.

The rhododendrons are lovely – red, dark pint and almost maroon are flourishing as the rain came just in time. They were suffering in the dry conditions.

Many bumble bees are seen and heard in the garden. Jenny Wren is often heard, and Robbie Robin is very tame. Mr and Mrs Bullfinch have deserted our feeders, but there are plenty of green goldfinches.

Tasks to be getting on with ...

- Water pots and containers if they become dry
- Spring flowering shrubs can be pruned after flowering
- Wash out pots and trays prior to storage

Most importantly, enjoy your gardens.

BURTON MERE WETLANDS

A Big Wild Summer Ahead

Summer cannot arrive soon enough for us all here. After some erratic Spring weather, we had the coldest April on record followed by the wettest May. It's not only been frustrating for people wanting to spend more time outdoors as we emerged from the latest lockdown, but challenging for birds and other wildlife hoping to have a successful breeding season.

As lockdown restrictions continued to gradually relax through spring, we have reopened more of our facilities, to the point of having our three hides open since Monday 17 May. This includes the wonderful new Border hide, built to replace Inner Marsh Farm hide which was retired last year after 28 years' service. We're already getting glowing feedback from visitors about how they're enjoying the improved views and space at Border hide.

The visitor centre remains closed until the final step of the roadmap out of lockdown in June, however visitors may enter to browse and order our range of bird food, feeders, binoculars and scopes, although much of this can be done outdoors if preferred. We'd love to help you attract more wildlife to your garden, or get you kitted out to get even closer to wildlife on the reserve by choosing the right optics for you; have a friendly, no-obligation chat with the team here, and if you do buy from us, you're supporting more conservation work at your local reserve.

Speaking of wildlife on the reserve, it's been an exciting couple of months. The bluebells in Gorse Covert were stunning as ever and drew plenty of people back for their first visit since the latest lockdown. .

Bluebells at Burton Mere

However, the birds stole the show, with as well as our abundant waders, ducks and egrets, a pair of marsh harriers establishing a nest in the reedbed again – something which happened for the first time last year, but the reserve was closed during the first lockdown – with excellent views of courtship and food-passes from Marsh Covert hide.

Also in the reedbed, the appearance of a male bittern in mid-March was a novelty for the time of year, even performing the distinctive “booming” mating-call, and is still present two months later, though the presence of a nest is so far difficult to confirm. We are watching with great anticipation to see if we have another new breeding bird at Burton Mere Wetlands.

A handful of spoonbills returned in April, though spending the majority of their time at Parkgate, and do not seem to be making any attempts to nest. We had an excellent Spring migration for spotted redshanks and whinchats. Even more exciting, from a birdwatcher’s perspective, was the week we experienced three rarities, with the common crane, Bonaparte’s gull and the glossy ibis all being seen in mid-May!

Looking ahead to June and July, we hope to return to near-normality, including trying to get some events going again. We’ve had our family quiz trails running since last month, but the summer months will play host to the national RSPB campaign of Big Wild Summer, with lots of fun and engaging activities for our family audiences to get involved with at our reserves from June to August.
